

A hybrid optical recording disc having copy protection for use in a 5 data being adapted to authenticate a transferred program in the computer to permit the program to be operated by the computer.